Notes:

Some ships, which also or primarily send messages via an AWS, are listed twice

The following ships either have transmission issues, or may not strictly have entered Antarctic waters:

AMOUK45	Observations only at 60.0S
CCAQ	No observations in January
CCMF	Present in January, March, May and June
PBQK	Present in November, March, but no observations received. Pressure data since December 20.
PDZS	One Antarctic message on January 3 at 60S. Observations in February.
PWAR	Present in January, March
UBNR	No observations south of 60 until January 20 – GTS issue
UGWI	Possibly a corruption of UGWJ
UGWG	Possibly a corruption of UGWJ, only reported on March 29

The following ships and yachts are known or suspected to have visited Antarctic waters in 2019/2020, but no synoptic reports were received whilst south of 60° (most records are via Palmer AIS and Global Fishing Watch). It is clear that many other ships (tourist, cargo, research, fishing and yachts) have visited, but no call-sign information was available for them. Launches are not monitored. Where the call sign is not known an MMSI number is given.
